

NHL PRONUNCIATION GUIDE
19th annual edition
2002-2003 season

Prepared by the NHL Broadcasters Association
Edited by Mike Emrick

PHONETIC STYLE

Since broadcasters and PA announcers are familiar with news copy and accompanying phonetics, the Broadcasters Association in 1984 adopted the UPI Stylebook for consistency. The most confusing symbols used by the wire services are:

IGH for long I, example: line = LIGHN

IH for short I, example: dip = DIHP

EH for short E, example: pest = PEHST

UH for short U, example: cup = KUHP

AH for short O, example: hot = HAHT

All accented syllables, including the rare names with double accents are in CAPITAL letters. The complete phonetic code is as follows:

AY for long A (as in mate)

A for short A (as in cat)

AI for nasal A (as in air)

AH for short A (as in father)

AW for broad A (as in talk)

EE for long E (as in meat)

EH for short E (as in get)

UH for hollow E (as in “the” or French prefix “le”)

AY for French long E with acute accent (as in Pathe)

IH for middle E (as in pretty)

EW for EW diphthong (as in few)

IGH for long I (as in time)

EE for French long I (as in machine)

IH for short I (as in pity)

OH for long O (as in mote, or “ough” as in though)

AH for short O (as in hot)

AW for broad O (as in fought)

OO for long double OO (as in fool or “ough” like through)

UH for short double OO (as in foot or “ouch” as in touch)

OW for OW diphthong (as in how, or “ough” as in plough)

EW for long U (as in mule)

OO for long U (as in rule)

U for middle U (as in put)

UH for short U (as in shut or hurt)

K for hard C (as in cat)

S for soft C (as in cease)

SH for soft CH (as in machine)

CH for hard CH or TCH (as in catch)

Z for hard S (as in decrease)

G for hard G (as in gang)

J for soft G (as in general)

ZH for soft J (as in French version of Joliet)
